The tower of the new court house at Hillsdale is now visible from the Lake Shore railway station in this place.—Jonesville Gazette.

The Jonesville L. O. T. M. will visit Hillsdale this evening. There will be an initiation, and the Hillsdale L. O. T. M. will exemplify the work.

The bad roads have made a wood famine, and the price at the wood yards has gone up to $2.50 a cord; coal also, not to be left behind, has gone up to $6.50 a ton.

Rev. S. Crane, D. D., of Sycamore, Ill., at one time pastor of the Universalist church of this city, died Friday. His son, Steven A. Crane, and Mrs. Crane left Saturday to attend the funeral.

A prominent young man of Litchfield plead guilty before Justice Agard last Thursday of stealing a load of 40 bushels of corn in the ear. He is of excellent family, has a lovely wife, and his name is withheld.

All signs point to a large trade for our merchants this year and those who wish to secure their full share of business will be wise in letting people know of the bargains they have to offer by using the advertising columns of the Standard.

Circuit Court convenes next Monday. The criminal calendar contains three important cases, arson, burglary and the Tuttle murder case. The Tuttle case may be, and probably will be, deferred for trial until the new court house is ready.

John N. Stoll died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Weeden, in the second ward, on Thursday afternoon, of consumption, aged 34 years. Funeral services were held at the residence Saturday afternoon, Rev. Richard Osborn officiating.

Last Tuesday evening the King Lake Mothers' club and friends of Mrs. H. Woods, about sixty in all, gave her a pleasant surprise visit. C. G. Robertson, in behalf of the donors, presented her with a fine rocker, after which all partook of a bountiful supper.

The house belonging to the Brush estate, corner of Mead and Cedar streets, occupied by Richard Price, is being fixed up in fine shape by Aaron Worthington, who is the little Brush girls' guardian. New porch, windows, paint, etc., will quite transform the place.

The Thursday club will give a banquet Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Charles Vaughan's. Masquerade costumes will be worn.

Elmer Carrothers, a feeble minded inmate of the county house for the last fourteen years, died last week. He was perfectly helpless, and was 28 years old.

H. C. Langdon started yesterday for Portland, where he has purchased a general store of H. F. Caswell. His family will follow him in the course of a couple of weeks. Mr. Langdon and family have a large circle of friends who wish them success.

"Railroad Jack" paid Hillsdale a visit last week. He is a very respectable appearing fellow, quite well educated and neat in his apparel. He is making a business of visiting schools and colleges just now and says he means to write a book in the near future on his unique experiences as a traveler.

Harry L. Swan has bought the bottling works for manufacturing soft drinks, of the Stone estate, on Sharp street, which he conducted last summer. He will manufacture in connection his White Swan Baking Powder. It is a good business and Mr. Swan is an enterprising young man, a combination that insures success.

Arthur Anderson, brother of Mrs. George Warren, of Railroad street, and a member of Co. D, Mich. Vol. Inf., received his discharge on the 15th inst. and arrived here Saturday morning from Albany, Ga., where his regiment was in camp all winter. Not a man from his company re-enlisted. All were glad to get away from the monotony of camp life.

An "S." social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Estey, 20 Sharp Street, Friday evening, by the Young People's Society of the First Baptist church. The young people have prepared no pains to make this a most profitable and enjoyable evening. A good program is being prepared and warm sugar will be served. All most cordially invited.

The stealing of bicycles throughout the state has become such an evil that stringent measures will be adopted to put a stop to the practice. A bill has passed the lower house and will undoubtedly pass the senate making such stealing felony punishable by a term of imprisonment of not less than two nor more than five years. The best the court is permitted to do by even a first offender is to give him one year in the county jail and a fine of from $50 to $250.

Col. L. F. Copeland gave what was to have been the last number on the students' lecture course Friday night, on "Snobs and Snobbery." It was announced that it will be impossible for Dr. Hillis to make his engagement here, but a substitute has been found who will be as warmly welcomed as Dr. Hillis could be, viz., Murat Halstead, the well known journalist, who was a war correspondent during the last war with Spain, perhaps the most noted correspondent in the field. His subject will be the very popular one of "Dewey, Merritt, and the Philippines."

Mrs. C. B. Ingersoll, of Mt. Olive, Ottawa County, writes the Standard that she has received a letter from her son, Dr. Ingersoll, dated Calcutta, India, Feb. 9, telling of the prosperous journey and safe arrival of himself and party at Calcutta where they have gone to take up work assigned them by the Foreign Mission Board of Seventh Day Adventists. Since visiting Hillsdale in December they have traveled over 12,000 miles and have been in every continent except South America. The doctor says it was good to be on land once more even though it be the land of cholera, small-pox and the plague.

The Clover club was "in clover" again Friday afternoon when they were entertained most pleasantly at the home of Mrs. Dora Hallett. The following play program was given: Original poem, Mrs. John Whitton, in which Patrick was the hero and Clover Blossom the heroine; original music, piano solo, Miss Maffris; current events, Mrs. Frank Ball; oil call, observations by the way. A very funny little farce entitled "The House Trap" was then given with the following ladies in the cast: Mesdames Frensdorf, Hall, Beckhardt, Hancock, Hathaway, Nellie Bates and Mae Ferris. There were twenty-seven ladies and three babies and a fine supper finished the afternoon.

The poverty "sooths" given at Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lyon's residence Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Eastern Star, drew out a crowd who went calico clad, bound on a good time. A jolly good time they did have, too. Mrs. F. M. Hall and S. J. Gier imposed no fines for too much finery and Mr. Hall and Mrs. Irene Gay told fortunes in a alcove with old shawls for portieres. Finger bread and coffee were all the refreshments to be found. A literary favor was given the entertainment by an initial game and Mrs. Oscar Hancock and Samuel Ranney walked off with the prizes for the best answers. Sir Knights Stebbins and Martin, of Elkhart, Ind., were among the guests.

All Republicans in the city should attend the caucuses Saturday evening.

A few desirable seats for Ingersoll's lecture, at Thatcher's book store, Good location.

Mrs. Mary Brown, Broad street, drew a quilt at Mrs. D. Riggs' Saturday night that was sold by tickets.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vaughan entertained at Pedro Saturday night. L. A. Jones and Mrs. Wm. Stevenson won the first prizes.

Ex-senator Colman, of Kalamazoo, has been invited to deliver the address in this city Decoration day and has accepted. He is one of the finest orators in the state.

Don't forget ladies' night at the Aca-cia club Friday evening. All Masons and their wives are expected to be present. Tickets for supper 25 cents each. Program in last week's Standard.

During the funeral services of J. N. Stoll Saturday the home of Wm. Weeden took fire. The flames were extinguished without difficulty, although the fire department was called out.

A number of the members of Treac-way Encampment, No. 9, I. O. O. F., went to Reading last night to attend a school of instruction held there by the grand officers of the state grand encampment.

There are from 25 to 50 good seats that may yet be had for Ingersoll's lecture to night, the tickets having been returned, unsold, from outside villages. You may never have another chance to hear this silver-tongued orator.

James Winnie and Bert Ward, engineer and fireman on the Ft. Wayne branch of the Lake Shore, were badly galled Thursday by an accident a few miles from Jackson. The "arch flue" in the engine boiler blew out and the firebox being open at the time the hot steam escaped with great violence, and both made their escape only after a severe scalding.

The remains of James Root, formerly of Cambria township, were brought here from Elkhart, Ind., Wednesday for burial. Mr. Root was a Knight Templar and his remains were accompanied by about 25 Knights, and were met at the station by an equal number of Hillsdale Knights. Funeral services were held at St. Peter's church, interment in the family lot at Cambria.

The convention of the Hillsdale county school principals was a decided success Saturday. Profs. Stuart and French, of Hillsdale, F. C. Jones, of Camden, H. L. Howe and W. T. Wallace, of Litchfield, F. J. Harrington and W. F. Gaskins, of Jonesville, H. T. McDonald, of North Adams and A. R. Waterbury, of Pittsford, were in attendance. The program was very interesting and another meeting will be held soon.

The Edna Paige Comedy Company gave good plays every night last week at Underwood's opera house. Tickets were given each night on prizes drawn Saturday afternoon and evening. Don Whelan, son of Dr. Blon Whelan, drew a small diamond ring, souvenir spoons were given the ladies, and in the evening rockers were drawn by the following persons: Miss Winifred LaFleur, George Mowry, Miss Gertrude Henry and Eugene Mosher.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society, of the First Baptist church, will meet at the residence of Mrs. F. M. Stewart to-morrow afternoon. Program: China, its present political situation, Mrs. Estey; Attempted reform movement, empress' decree, postal system. What can be expected of Dowager empress? Miss Shafer; Wanted, another Gordon to save China, Mrs. Shepard; Brief sketch of our missionaries, Mrs. Wood; Missionaries on the field supported by society of the west, Mrs. Parker; Chinese characteristics, Mrs. Cross; How will recent political changes affect missions, Mr. Cross.

Considerable interest was developed in the discussion of the question, "What is the meaning of the word 'day'?" before the Non-sectarian Club, last Sunday, though no decision was reached further than that neither the 24 hour or the epoch theory were entirely satisfactory. The subject before that club next Sunday morning will be "Has any one a social, moral or religious right to take a glass of intoxicating liquor as a beverage, now and then, when he may feel like it?" Mrs. Mattie French will deliver the opening address. There will be preaching services in that church in the evening, as usual.

One of the prettiest entertainments ever given at the college was that Saturday evening by sixteen young ladies and an equal number of gentlemen of Prof. Martin's class in the gymnasium. The marching, counter marching and the different drills with dumb bells, Indian clubs, fencing fells, etc., were splendidly done and showed the superior work now being done under Prof. Martin. The evening ended with games of basket ball by both gentlemen's and ladies' teams which were highly interesting to spectators as well as players. Mr. Collins in the first team and Miss Moore in the second, covered themselves with glory by their skill in sending the ball home. The hall was lighted by electricity just put in, to pay the expense of which the entertainment was given.

L. K. Hewitt, the Broad street, boot and shoe dealer, is selling excellent goods cheap and the people are evidently finding it out. It will pay you to visit him when in need of new footwear.

Mrs. F. A. Lyon and Mrs. F. M. Hall were called to Iowa yesterday morning by the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. J. M. Fink. Miss Vivian Lyon accompanied them.

F. M. Stewart went to Lansing yesterday to attend a meeting of the Board of Control of the Coldwater State School. He was at Coldwater Friday with the Senate committee looking over the school.

Athletic Exhibition. The Baw Beese Athletic club gave its first athletic entertainment March 17, a small crowd of invited friends witnessing the long and well selected program.

E. Todd gave an address that was well worth hearing. The exhibition of club swinging was very pretty, the prizes being awarded to Homer Marsh; second, Henry Resseguie; third, Will Castle.

The bag-punching exhibition was close and well contested. James Wright captured first honors, with H. Marsh second and H. Resseguie third.

The standing broad jump was won by Will Castle; second, Ed Murray; third, J. Marsh. Distance, 9 feet 4 inches.

The standing high kick was won by Castle; second, Marsh; third, Gillett. Height, 7 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

The high and kick handicap was won by Castle (2 in.), second by Zeigler (3 in.), third, J. Marsh (scratch); height, actual kick, 7 feet, 11 inches.

Guy Williams and Jas. Wright battered each other cheerfully for three rounds. The decision was awarded to the former.

The horizontal bar exhibition was good and captured first honors by Zeigler; second, J. Marsh; third, J. Marsh.

Jud. Marsh and Henry Resseguie showed their skill with the mits for three short rounds. The decision was a draw.

The wind-up was a three-round go by Ed. Murray and Will Castle. The decision was a draw.

The club will give a maple sugar social with eulogistic numbers a week from Thursday evening.

The Trap Door Again. Mrs. Merriman, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Low Cary, on Railroad street, was called to Detroit Saturday afternoon. She was alone in the house, and a trap door to the cellar in the kitchen floor happened to be open unknown to her, and going through the kitchen, she fell through into the cellar, breaking her left leg. She managed to crawl up stairs and to the front door where she called for help until some one came.

Mr. Eccles Is Still Missing. About a month ago C. W. Eccles went away, going to Cleveland, to be gone a short time, he informed his wife. He did not return and Mrs. Eccles received word from him in the course of a couple of weeks from Chicago. No direct word has reached her since although it is thought he has been traced to Texas.

Mrs. Eccles went to that state last week to find him, if possible. Great anxiety is felt over him as he has been feeling very melancholy for several months, caused by the death of his brother, of consumption.

The New Collegian. The Collegian Herald is now in the hands of the new management, viz: the college students, although the style of paper is not yet changed. It will be issued under the title of the New Collegian. The following make up the editorial force and with such a bright galaxy of hustling editors success is assured: Leroy E. Waterman, editor-in-chief; J. H. Lamb, D. Chase, and Misses May Gurney, Mary Wells and Grace Bailey, associate editors. The first issue of the New Collegian will be published the 24 Friday of next month. Artists are now at work making an artistic outside cover.

GREAT REMOVAL SALE

FRIEDMAN'S

Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoe Store.

A few weeks more, four weeks at the outside, and our Grand Removal Sale will positively terminate. Our stock which is rapidly depleting will in all probability be sold at the above specified time, but should it not be, the balance that will be left on our hands will be boxed up and shipped to some large auction store in Chicago, where it will be sold to the highest bidder. It is superfluous for us to dwell much on this subject.

WE HAVE GOT THE GOODS; WE MUST TURN THEM INTO CASH; and rather than sacrifice them to one individual, we've cut the prices on the goods so deep and mercilessly that our customers can reap the harvest of the sacrifice if they will only avail themselves of this opportunity. We proclaim this to be unequivocally the greatest economy event that was ever inaugurated in Hillsdale. Never have you or never will you be able to buy goods so extraordinarily low and so thoroughly reliable.

We will easily verify every claim we have made if you will only take the pains to investigate.

Helping the Poor.

Superintendent of the Poor L. S. Ranney and County Agent K. O. Haynes have many a queer and interesting experience, and can tell you many a story of both the deserving and the undeserving poor that would make you open your eyes very wide indeed were you to hear them. That both officers have the true desire to help the unfortunate so necessary for the proper discharge of their duties no one can deny, and there must frequently be a great "tug of war" between natural impulse and official duty. I happened into Superintendent Ranney's office Saturday morning and County Agent Haynes was also present. "I see by one of the county papers," I said, "criticism is made that the old soldier who died at the county house recently had not been sent to the soldiers' home. How was it? Why was he not there?" "Well," was the response, "we couldn't get him there. A few years ago he was in the soldiers' home in Ohio, and was let out on a furlough. He came to Hillsdale county with his wife, and tried to earn a living at Pittsford and other places, but could not make it out some way, and came to us for help. We helped him, and gave him money to get back to Ohio, where he said he would go into the home again. He went back, but he had out-stayed his furlough and lost his papers, and he was not re-admitted. Their way was paid back to Hillsdale, and here they've been ever since." His body was interred at the county farm, but was taken up and buried in the soldiers' lot in Oak Grove cemetery yesterday. He leaves a wife, a boy about 6 years old and a little girl about 2 years and a half old. "Such a little girl would be in great demand at the state public school," said Mr. Haynes. "A good home would be waiting for her. The demand for adopting girls always exceeds the supply." "How about boys," I asked. "Oh, it is different with the boys; we always have plenty of boys." "Are not people as anxious to adopt boys?" I said. "Well, no, not quite so much so, but there are more boys sent us, over two boys to one girl. I don't know why, but it is so. Girls are more with the mothers for company, may be."

While we were talking a handsome, bright little fellow came into the office and handed Mr. Ranney a note which he read and said: "Tell your mother, my boy, I can't do it; can't do anything today." The boy seemed reluctant to go and my sympathy was soon enlisted for him and the mother. "Get so many appeals of this kind I have to refuse some strong women able to do work ought not to be applying for help," so saying, Mr. Ranney handed me the note which requested an order for groceries, wood, etc., and Mr. Ranney had been so kind all winter she knew he would not refuse. "She and her boy were at the show last night, I saw 'em," said Mr. C. who was present. "What a show and what a asking aid!" I exclaimed. "Oh, that's a common occurrence," said the county agent. "The very ones who are helped through the winter by the city are the ones who take in all the circuses in the summer." After talking more with these guardians of the poor I said what I have often said before "The deserving poor we do not help for they will starve before they give a sign. We are bled by these parasites on society and what is more, we cannot help ourselves very much."
